Klimaatsveandering is nou wêreldwyd 'n aanvaarde feit. Is u bewus van voorspellings tov die uitwerking daarvan op boerdery bedrywighede – veral veeboerdery?

Kom deel in die kennis van Mnr Keith Ramsay, 'n wêreld outoriteit op die gebied. Hy gaan ons toespreek oor klimaatsverandering en die rol wat inheemse beeste soos die Tuli in "klimaat-slim" boerdery kan speel. Mnr Ramsay is 'n voormalige Registrateur van Veeverbetering en huidige President van "Rare Breeds International" sowel as Wetenskaplike Bestuurder van Diereproduksie by die Dept van Landbou, Bosbou en Visserye.

Hierdie is ook 'n geleentheid waar u kan hoor hoe ons bure in lande noord van Suid Afrika die veranderende omstandighede en uitdagings van boerdery in Afrika benader. Mnr Chris Rogers, 'n hoogsgespekteerde veekonsultant in Zambië en voorheen Tuli-boer in Zimbabwe sal sy ondervindings en observasies met ons deel.

Nog twee sprekers is: Mnr Robin Watson van Beefcor Voerkrale; en Dr Herman de Bruin, 'n veearts wat gaan praat oor Biosekuriteit met die klem op Trichomoniasis en Brucellose.

'n Kritiese beoordeling en evaluasie van 'n klompie spesiaal uitgesoekte funksionele, produktiewe, aangepaste Tulis volg. Deelname deur gaste aan die besprekings sal verwelkom word.

Na afloop van die oggend se verrigtinge word 'n ligte middagete bedien

Let asb daarop dat bywoning van die dag gratis is maar om die spyseniering en ander reëlins te vergemaklik is dit noodsaaklik dat u vooraf bespreek. Kontak asb vir Mariette Barnard op epos: pinz@telkomsa.net of foon/sms 0827717562 OF Carmen Welz op epos: carmen@saccw.co.za of foon/sms 0832666829 om u plek te bespreek.

Climate change is now an accepted fact. Are you aware of predicted future consequences, particularly as regards cattle breeding?

Share the knowledge of a world authority, Mr Keith Ramsay, formally registrar of Livestock improvement and currently President of Rare Breeds International as well as Scientific Manager: Animal Production in the Dept. of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries. He will be talking about climate change and the role of indigenous animals such as the Tuli in climate smart agriculture.

Also learn what our neighbours north of South Africa are doing to address the changing circumstances & challenges of farming in Africa. Mr Chris Rogers, a highly respected cattleman, formerly from Zimbabwe – now active as consultant in Zambia – will share his experiences & observations.

Other speakers will be Mr Robin Watson of Beefcor feedlot; and Dr Herman de Bruin talking about Biosecurity with the focus on Trichomoniasis and Brucellosis.

A critical assessment & evaluation of a number of Tulis as functional, productive, adapted animals by the speakers, with participation by the audience, will follow.

To conclude the morning lunch will be served after this practical discussion.

Kindly note that although there is no charge it is essential that you book in good time in order to facilitate the catering & other arrangements.
